Personal data that we process

De Lopers van Lunetten processes your personal data because you use our services and / or because you provide this data to us yourself.

Below you will find an overview of the personal data we process:

- Name and surname
- Address details
- Telephone number
- Email address
- Other personal data that you actively provide, for example by creating a profile on this website, in correspondence and by telephone
- Bank account number

Special category personal data and/or privacy-sensitive data that we process

Below you will find an overview of Special category personal data and/or privacy-sensitive data that we process:

- health information

During an intake with the participant (person who signs up for trial training and/or membership at de Lopers van Lunetten) and the trainer of de Lopers van Lunetten the Physical Activity Readiness Questionnaire (PAR-Q) is administered. This is a short questionnaire to assess potential health risk associated with participation in a training program. For most people, exercising will not pose any problems or danger. However, it is important to identify those persons for whom physical activity is less suitable or for whom medical advice should be sought on the type of activities that is most suitable.

In addition, the trainer sets and evaluates training goals during the intake and follow up meeting(s) with the participant. Because health goals are suitable in the context of the training program and the current state of health is relevant, the trainer will ask questions about health and health-related matters to the participant.

The participant is asked for oral and written permission for the processing of health(-related) information prior to the intake.

The purposes and basis on which we process personal data
